

MEETING OF MERCHANTS

Greater Salt Lake Food and Industrial Exposition Is Subject of Discussion.

Judging from reports made at the meeting last night of the board of directors of the Greater Salt Lake Food and Industrial exposition with the members of the Salt Lake Retail Merchants' association and local manufacturers of the city, in the Boyd Park block, the exposition will be the most successful affair of the kind ever held here.

The principal object of the meeting was to discuss ways and means of boosting the attendance at the exposition. A. A. Trent, general manager of the show for the Merchants' association, was present at the meeting and gave a number of pointers he had gained in his past experience in conducting exhibitions of this kind.

Mr. Trent reported that sixty-seven exhibitors will be represented at the exposition, which will open at the Auditorium on Richards street Nov. 23. To induce many of the large manufacturers to take part in the exposition, he has guaranteed an attendance of between 50,000 and 60,000 people. All sorts of exhibits and attractions will be seen, from electric lighting to vaudeville. Special electric lighting features will be provided, both in the streets leading to the Auditorium and in the building.

RAILROAD CAFE OPENED

Banquet Served for Officers and Guests at Eating House in New Passenger Station.

As a final completion of the new Union railway station of the Oregon Short Line, located north of the big passenger lobby, was formally opened last night. A banquet, at which all several officers of the dining car and hotel department of the Oregon Short Line and members of the local press were present, was given in the new building. The menu of the best was served and an enjoyable informal evening spent. Following the spread the party inspected the establishment.

The cafe is equipped for the serving of everything from a table d'hôte dinner to a quick lunch.

Beneath the cafe is the storeroom, equipped for stocking and preserving all supplies necessary for running the establishment. The kitchen is a model. Everything is done in aluminum, and gas ranges are used.

Railroad officials who sat at the banquet were F. W. Gentsch, assistant superintendent of the dining car service; F. E. Fitzgerald, manager of the cafe; F. H. Knickerbocker and E. L. Smith of the general offices.

L. D. S. NOTES.

The domestic science girls gave a spinster party last Friday afternoon in the dancing room at the Lion House.

Major Willard Young is still in the east and is not expected home until the latter part of the month.

The night school classes in physical culture have been indefinitely postponed on account of the new gymnasium not being finished.

It has not yet been decided whether the D. S. A. will play in the High school or the college league this year. It holds the basketball championship of the college league. At Tuesday's intercollegiate meet the sophomores defeated the freshmen by a score of 16 to 13, and the business college lost to the juniors by a score of 11 to 25.

The midwinter course for boys who make hay while the sun shines and mow while the snow flies is designed especially for farmers' sons. It begins Nov. 5 and continues for four months.

The second-year class of the business college, which has separated from the general organization, entertains Nov. 5 in the Lion House. The reception committee is composed of Kate Hatch, Lucinda Buys, Mr. McCallister and Mr. Judd.

A number of Halloween parties were given to the various witnesses Judge J. M. Bowman informed Stanley that the law of the range had long been abolished in Salt Lake.

BRONCHO BUSTER IN COURT

Touch of Western Realism Appears in Trial of Showman.

"Bronks," "shaps," "six-guns" and other phrases dear to the writer of western fiction figured in the testimony of a defendant yesterday afternoon when Dick Stanley, champion bronco buster of the world, was tried in police court on the charge of battery. Stanley was fined $5 for striking William Frederickson with a club at the show grounds near the Salt Palace last week.

"Cowboys" of Stanley's wild west show testified to the effect that they had taken it upon themselves to "round up" several Salt Lake men who, they said, had been raising a disturbance at the show. Red shirts, gaudy handkerchiefs and high-topped boots gave a picturesque appearance to the witnesses. Judge J. M. Bowman informed Stanley that the law of the range had long been abolished in Salt Lake.

ASKS FOR WATER RIGHT.

Manti Light & Power Company Wants Flow From Creek.

The Manti Light & Power company, by its president, James Crawford, yesterday filed application with the state engineer, J. M. Bowman, for a water right to flow of Manti Creek in Sanpete county for electrical power purposes. The company intends to erect a power house in the creek at a point near where it issues from the canyon and divert the required water by means of a pipe line, half a mile long, to the power house. The plant will be equipped with the most modern machinery. The wheels will be 60 inches in diameter and will revolve at 1,200 revolutions per minute. They will operate under a head of 44 feet of water and will generate about 450 horsepower. The power generated will be used for electric lighting and propelling machinery in Manti and towns in the vicinity.

SKELETONS UNCOVERED

Presence of Bones Buried in Business District Not Explained by Record of Tragedies.

A skeleton, apparently that of a woman who had been buried many years, was dug up last night of the Lambert Paper company's building, 143-45 West First South, yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by A. McGill, 338 East Fourth South. Mr. McGill was digging a ditch for some improvements to be made on the plant when he uncovered the bones. He was vastly puzzled by his find and hurriedly summoned Guy Herie, Byron Davis and Edward C. Young. They collected the bones and brought them to the Herald-Republican building. It was possible to connect them with a tragedy of some kind in that vicinity. Rapid re-examination of records shows no murder or person missing in that vicinity. The young man took the bones to the police station, but young McGill says he is going to present them to the museum of All Hallows college.

AMUSEMENTS

SALT LAKE THEATRE.

Chauncey Olcott will appear in his successful play, "Ragged Robin," at the Salt Lake theatre. This play is very popular and is characterized by its Irish theme and treatment than anything that this popular comedian has been seen in so far as the type of the type that has been so successful in the National Irish theatre of Dublin, where the works of Yeats, Russell, Lady Gregory and others have been given. A splendid supporting cast has been promised, and there will be wealth of scenery, costumes and scenery and costumes. It is entirely superfluous to comment on the talents and art of Olcott, who is now in the foremost in Irish drama today, and his advent here, supported by a company of unusual merit, cannot be regarded otherwise than as a notable dramatic event.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.

In "Circumstantial Evidence," Harrison Armstrong's play, which is running at the Orpheum, a welcome relief is given from the musical comedy skits, the acrobats and other familiar features of vaudeville. It is an act that makes people think. Throughout the whole story there is a sweetness and cleanliness that is refreshing and clean. It is a play that is deservedly scoring one of the dramatic hits of the season. The other acts on the bill are also proving very popular.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Every show has its own drawing power. "The Sunny Side of Broadway," playing at the Colonial this week, has its popularity from its wholesome fun and lively chorus. The chorus is the best looking and best looking of the season. The show runs the week out with a matinee Saturday.

BUNGALOW THEATRE.

This afternoon will see the opening of a new bill at the Bungalow theatre. This play, as in other, is in a new bill, as the theatre was crowded at every performance. For the feature act, Mr. Pantheas secured the release of the Leon Morris company, which was to have been on last week's bill, but which was detained by the inspection officials on the border line, and is in town now, so that there will be no hitch in next week's show.

This act, which is one of the best animal acts in vaudeville, includes ponies, dogs and a monkey. La Belle Helene and her leading greyhounds, not forgetting the champion for her size, Major Dolly, the high diving monkey, John Hedges and the wrestling ponies, Banner and Madison.

Smith, Evans & Williams have a sketch that abounds with clever lines and it also contains just a touch of pathos. The old man of the sketch is written around an old Jew, his daughter and her sweetheart. The old man is in town now, so that there will be no hitch in next week's show.

There has not been a dancing act in Salt Lake for some time, so that Robert & Downey, two good looking young chaps, are bound to please. They have an act that is mixed with comedy and vaudeville shoe dancing. The Chatter Sisters do a little singing, whistling and character changes. An act called "The Pumpkin" affords a opportunity to display their ability as contortionists and acrobats.

Miss Myrtle Ballinger, whose voice has never been heard to better advantage than last week, will again sing the illustrated song, "The Bungalow orchestra and the Pantheas conclude the bill, which will run all week until Wednesday evening, with a matinee at 2:30. As a special attraction for Friday evening, Dolly Dimples will appear.

$62,700 IN BUILDING PERMITS YESTERDAY

Building permits amounting to $62,700 were issued by Building Inspector A. B. Hirth yesterday, including one for the Armour Packing company of Chicago for $30,000. The permits were as follows:

J. Ogden Armour, two-story brick storage, 27 West Fourth South street, $30,000; filed by J. Hamilton, Salt Lake agent of the Armour Packing company of Chicago.

Royal Baking company, addition, 232 South Main, $10,000.

Westminster Presbyterian church, church building, 601 South First West street, $18,000.

J. E. Trowbridge, 438-440 Our court, double brick house, $2,000.

B. Rich, one-story brick, 320 East Fifth South street, $1,200.

John Matson, four-room brick, 1147 South Lake street, $1,500.

TO PROTECT CONSUMERS.

An addition was made Wednesday to the already large stock of miscellaneous food products held for investigation at the office of Willard Hansen, state food and dairy commissioner, in the Dooly block, when a half-dozen sacks of flour were taken to the office, to be held there and weighed from time to time. At a recent meeting of the state pure food bureau it was decided to look into the weight of flour sold on the local market, to determine the amount of shrinkage for which the consumer has to pay.

Five of the sacks came from Utah or nearby companies and the sixth from an eastern firm. The sack containing the eastern product was found to weigh forty-six pounds and the weight of the others ranged from forty-six and one-half to forty-seven and one-half pounds.

The office already possesses samples of several varieties of maple syrups, preserves and canned goods.

UNIVERSITY NOTES.

The first practice of the University band, which was organized Monday afternoon, will be held Friday. The boys are turning out in good force for the organization and promises to give a good band by the end of the present school year.

"There's a Reason"

Cohn's Blankets and Comforters; Save 1/4 to 1/2

With Jack Frost just 'round the corner it's a shame to sell these blankets and comforters one-fourth to one-half less than actual values. What's wrong? Just this: A year ago, you remember, September and October were snowy and cold, and we had to hustle to get blankets enough to supply our trade. Trade conditions favored us this year, and, not to be again caught napping, we bought heavily. But the season has been unusually warm and mild, and we are greatly overstocked. With other goods crying for room, there is but one thing to do, thus:

WE REDUCE EVERY BLANKET AND COMFORTER ONE-FOURTH TO ONE-HALF

Space permits description of only a few:

- | | | |
|---|--|---|
| $4.50 Blankets $2.60
A fine white wool blanket with different colored borders, full size, 72x84 inches—worth regularly $4.50, is sold for almost half price, $2.60. | $7.50 Blankets $4.95
The famous St. Mary's wool blankets in light gray, white and fawn. The size is 70x80. St. Mary's blankets have practically a standard value of $7.50 the country over, so advantage by choosing at $4.95. | $1.50 Comforters 89c
100 good full size silklike covered comforters, filled with fair grade white cotton, worth regularly $1.50. Prepare for winter by selecting at 89c. |
| $5.00 Blankets $2.95
Wolverine and Oriental blankets, full size, 72x84 inches, made in Grecian and Oriental designs. Colors, blue, pink, gray and brown, worth regularly $5.00 a pair. Choose at—$2.95. | 75c Baby Robes 38c
Dainty baby blanket robes, well bound, in different designs. Blues, pinks, tans and grays, worth 75c; your choice—38c. | $2.75 Blankets $1.59
Extra heavy white Norman blankets, German wool finish, size 72x84 inches. Choice of pink and blue borders, worth regularly $2.75. Choose at—$1.59. |

On other blankets from 55c to $20.00, save a full third.

By Reason of the Unusually Low Prices, Quotations Are for Thursday Only

This is a popular price store. Since we avoid extremes, the all-wool suit at $6.98 and the garish costume at $150 are not here. But the woman who wants a garment of good material and honest workmanship at a popular price will find here an assortment of styles and models not to be duplicated in the city. Appealing to the popular purse permits no fancy profit taking—to each garment is added a fair profit and no more.

A Manufacturers' Surplus Suit Stock Save a Full Third and More

The wholesale suit business is about four months ahead of the retail. Wholesalers will soon be working on their spring stuff. Recently, then, comes a telegram from one of our manufacturers: "Can you use my surplus stock, about 100 suits, at one-third off regular prices?" We wired back: "Send them on."

The suits are now here, something like 100 in all. The styles are all the season's best, the materials are wool throughout, the workmanship is honest and thorough.

The assortment comprises tight, semi and three-quarters fitting garments, plain and fancy trimmed. The materials are homespuns, serges, diagonals, chifon broadcloths, Venetians, etc. All the coats are lined throughout. Blacks and colors. For quick selling we have divided the suits into four lots:

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| $15.00 suits . $10.00 | $32.50 suits . $21.50 |
| $25-$30 suits $17.95 | $36.00 suits . $24.00 |

$15.00 Sample Dresses for $8.95

Just sixteen women can share in this bit of good luck. Sixteen sample dresses—we wish there were 100—from one of our best makers; in chifon broadcloths, fancy tweeds, wide wale serges and two-tone diagonals. The dresses are well worth to $5. Be one of the first sixteen to select at $8.95.

For the woman who wants a dress or coat dress to slip on quickly and be sure of the proper thing for afternoon or street wear, these dresses just fill the want. They come in the popular long waist effects, and are made, satin and velvet trimmed. Some have fancy yokes, soutache braid trimmed. Colors are blue, black, brown, wisteria and olive green. Our season's best value—$8.95.

$5.00 Sweaters $3.95

Men's sweaters are so snug and "comfy" that women quickly took them up. But the average sweater soon looks like a bag, so we set about to find one with some fit and style. Here now in all sizes in cardinal, whites and grays. We want you to know them well, so instead of the regular price of $5.00, we make a special introductory offer of $3.95.

tion of Bishop Benjamin Brewster to the episcopate for western Colorado.

Dean Colladay comes to St. Mark's from the Berkeley divinity school of Middleton, Conn., where for nine years he has been professor of the literature and interpretation of the New Testament. His last parochial charge, before going to Berkeley, was in Philadelphia.

He was born in Pennsylvania and received his classical education at the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1881, and was trained for the priesthood of the church at the institution he now leaves to assume his duties here. He graduated at the seminary in 1884, and was ordained to the priesthood in 1885.

Fermentation and Flatulence Prevented

In the Stomach by Charcoal, the Great Absorbent, Anti-Fermentative and Deodorant.

Some years ago Dr. Belloc, a retired surgeon of the French army, turned his attention to charcoal as a remedy for dyspepsia, fermentation and flatulence, or gas in the stomach and intestines. He was himself a sufferer from these symptoms, and he found charcoal a disagreeable, testing personally its therapeutic action.

He decided after many tests that charcoal made of willow wood was by far the best. He found that charcoal made of other woods caused a disagreeable taste in the mouth—even painful excretions of the mucous membrane, as well as thirst, and a pinching sensation in the stomach; but not one of these symptoms ever occurred when willow charcoal was employed.

It was in the habit of prescribing from two to six teaspoonfuls for his patients, but he himself frequently took as much as fifteen grammes, or more than fifty ounces per day. There is really no such thing as taking too much charcoal. An excess cannot be taken for the reason that the more you take the better it is for you, as it is entirely harmless, and through its use your system will be completely cleansed of all its impurities, fermentation of food and the formation of gas in the stomach prevented and the absorption of toxic products or poisonous material into the blood from the stomach and intestines stopped.

When a regular physician takes as much as fifteen ounces of charcoal daily, its harmlessness and beneficial effects as an absorbent, deodorant, germ destroyer and dyspepsia cure should be apparent to all. The Academie Nationale de Medicine of Paris reported very favorably on a memoir which Dr. Belloc published on the use of charcoal, and in France it soon became a favorite remedy. Its reputation spread, and it was used by many of the greatest physicians of the world, who prescribed and employed as dyspepsia remedies. Dr. Belloc's charcoal was administered to his patients in the form of a powder stirred up in water, which was very disagreeable to the taste, and its efficacy was far less than in the form of a lozenge.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are a great and happy improvement upon this form of administering charcoal. They are made of the best willow charcoal, freshly prepared, and rendered exceedingly palatable by the addition of pure honey, which gives them a taste that is in strong contrast to that of ordinary powdered charcoal. Nothing could be more efficacious in its effects than charcoal given in this desirable form. Two or three of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges taken after meals are sufficient to give complete relief. Go to your druggist and buy a box, but insist on having Stuart's, as there are many worthless imitations on the market, not made of willow wood, but of poplar, boxwood, dogwood, etc., which are not good for the system. For sale everywhere, 25 cents per box. Sample box will be sent free by mail upon request. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

The new extension course in English which has recently been organized at the University of Utah for the teachers of the middle schools is meeting with success. The course of study is in the notable works of the European literature of the middle ages, with special attention to Dante. The second course will be on comparative literature from 1850 to 1900. The course is divided into the English movement, the continental movement and the American movement in literature. The class will meet at 9 o'clock Saturday mornings, in the room adjoining the office of the city superintendent of schools.
